

The Yale Law Journal

What to Submit

We invite Forum submissions for the Yale Law Journal Volume 126 from all students, faculty, and practitioners. You may submit a Forum essay at any time.

The YLJ Forum welcomes scholarship that is short, timely, and accessible to a general audience. We particularly encourage authors to submit pieces that grapple with current issues as they unfold and to write in a style targeted toward policymakers and practitioners. All YLJ Forum pieces are fully searchable and available on LexisNexis and Westlaw and are also made available in PDF format.

We recommend that submissions be no longer than 2,500 words (including footnotes).

How to Submit

The YLJ Forum accepts pieces on a rolling basis throughout the year, and you may submit your piece through the electronic system at any time.

All YLJ Forum pieces must be submitted through the Journal's online submission process. To submit through our website, go to <http://ylj.yalelawjournal.org/authors/index.html> and register for an account. Once your account has been created, log in and click on the "Submit Work" hyperlink; after that, check the "Yale Law Journal Forum Piece" bubble and click on "Continue." Follow the instructions on that screen to submit all required documents. Anyone having difficulty with the submission process should email Managing Editors Anna Mohan (anna.mohan@yale.edu) or Aaron Levine (aaron.levine@yale.edu) with questions.

Submission materials must include the following and be uploaded into the appropriate fields on our website (preferably in Microsoft Word format):

1. Submission field. Upload the submission, without your name on it, into this field. This document should provide a word count, including footnotes, in the header.
2. Preemption Paragraph field. Upload your Preemption Paragraph, without your name on it, into this field. In no more than a couple hundred words, please explain your piece's relationship to any existing scholarship.
3. Submission Form field (Student Authors Only). Upload your Submission Form into this field. The Submission Form will only be accessible to the Managing Editors.

Make sure to remove all identifying information from your submission. The Forum Committee reviews submissions anonymously and will not consider submissions that contain identifying information about the author. Additionally, please right-click all documents to be submitted (except the Submission Form), click on "Properties," and delete your name from all relevant fields under the Summary tab.

To preserve anonymity, all questions regarding the YLJ Forum submissions process should be directed to Executive Editor Alexandra Perloff-Giles (alexandra.perloff-giles@yale.edu).

In order to ensure timely publication of essays, we follow an accelerated evaluation and production schedule. All citations should conform to standard Bluebook style. Please also make sure to include Internet links to sources wherever possible. The YLJ Forum attempts to provide quick access to all cited materials.
